In November, we will share an online survey to gather information about your child. This research based survey, the ASQ3, is intended to gather information about each child's development from the parent's perspective. We will use this information in conjunction with our observations and assessments to look at the development of the whole child. As a follow up, this information will be reviewed and discussed during January Parent Teacher Conferences.

In addition to information from the Nurse's Office, information about curriculum, ways to help your child at home, and what we are learning this week are included below in the Nurse's Newsletter and Instructional Coach's Corner.

SWARMing with Audubon Pride,
